

Our brains, Our selves?

May 1-3

May 1	Day 1	Location
12:00-14:20	Duck Tour – meet at 12:00 noon at the Sheraton Commander lobby. Tour from 13:00 – 14:20	MEETING LOCATION – Sheraton Commander lobby, travel to Prudential Center by red line for tour.
16.00-17.00	Registration &amp; Cocktail Party Welcoming Remarks by Anne Harrington	Collection of Historical Scientific Instruments, Harvard Science Center, Gallery 136
18.00-20.00	Reception dinner	Legal Sea Foods, Charles Hotel Courtyard, 20 University Road Cambridge

May 2	Day 2
08.45-09.15	Coffee	Room 469 of the Science Center at Harvard University.
09.15-10.45	Subjectivities Nicolas Langlitz (Max Planck Institute for the History of Science), The persistent of subjectivity in neuroscience: observations of contemporary hallucinogen research  John Tresch (UPenn), Meditating brains and neuroscientific selves	Room 469
10.45-11.00	Coffee	Room 469
11.00-12.30	Calculation Nathan Greenslit (Harvard/MIT), Finding culture in the brain: how marketers use neuroscience to decode the truth of branding  Natasha Schull (MIT) and Caitlin Zaloom (NYU), The computational subject of neuroeconomics	Room 469
12.45-14.00	Lunch (with Harvard Provost Steve Hyman)	Z-Square in Harvard Square, 14 JFK Street, Cambridge
14.15-16.30	Epidemics Scott Vrecko (LSE), The productive assemblage of fat and pharmaceuticals  Trudy Dehue (University of Groningen), Age-old brain disorders?  Linsey McGoey (Oxford), Antidepressants, efficacy, and the value of the unknown	Room 469
16.30-16.50	Coffee	Room 469
16:50-18:00	General discussion	Room 469
19.00-21.00	Dinner	Harvard Faculty Club, 20

		Quincy Street, Cambridge
--	--	--------------------------

May 3	Day 3
08.45-09.15	Coffee	Room 469 of the Science Center at Harvard University .
09.15-10.45	Governance Amanda Pustlinik (Harvard), Violence on the brain: a critique of neuroscience in criminal law  Nikolas Rose (LSE), Screen and intervene: governing risky brains	Room 469
10.45-11.15	Coffee	Room 469
11.15-12.45	Topographies Joseph Dumit (UC Davis), Circuits in the brain and how they got there  Andreas Roepstorff (Aarhus University), Scanning identities	Room 469
12.45-14.15	Lunch	See welcome packet for local lunch options.
14.15-15.45	Ontologies Giovanni Frazetto (LSE), Old and new anxieties: expectations and discontents in a biologised world  Ilpo Helen (University of Helsinki), The affective self and brain-dynamics	Room 469
15.45-16:00	Coffee	Room 469
16:00-16.45	Ontologies – cont'd Margaret Lock (McGill) Seduced by plaques and tangles	Room 469
16.45-17.45	Discussion	Room 469
17.45-18.15	Closing remarks, Rebecca Lemov (Harvard)	Room 469
19.00-21.00	Final Dinner	Changsho, 1712 Massachusetts Ave. Cambridge